No Food for German Soldiers.

"After all the murder and torture inflicted on merchant seamen throughout the world the German people now are asking them to feed Germany. We seamen don't wage war on women and children. But before we take food to Germany we demand that the emclated children of France, Belgium and in other allied lands be fed. And when we do, or if we do take food to Germany I will make it my own business to see that not an ounce of it reaches a man who has borne arms against the Allies. If food does go to soldiers we'll stop shipments."

Mr. Tupper said that the seamen of the same sum is raised by separate taxes levied on income, property and business inequalities in one of these classes will be mitigated by inequalities in the others. Mr. Tupper said that the seamen of Europe have agreed not to carry German cargoes in vessels in which they sail for a period of seven years in retaliation for German methods of naval warfare. On February 24, he said, American seamen will take the same stand. Atrocities placed the German people outside the pale of civilization for the next three generations, he said.
